Prospects Flattering. We are glad to find out that our old friend, Fred A. Miller, is rapidly coming to the front. A few weeks since he was an humble cigar manufacturer and his name unknown to fame. To day he is recognized as a man of great genius and is rapidly speeding toward fame and fortune. Few men in recent years have gained such prominence in so short a time. Ordinarily the name of an inventor dies almost as soon as it is bornthe inventor and the thing invented dying together. But not so with-Fred A Miller. Some three weeks ago THE CLIMAX contained a brief notice of Mr. Miller's Sanitary Wire Bottle Case upon which he had been granted a patent. At the time, the in ventor had been made one or two good offers for the manufacture of his case. Since then, however, he has been flooded with inquirers, offers and propositions representatives from two large manufacturing concerns in Cincinnati and Louisville respectively, were here in the interests of their firms with the object in view of manufacturing the case. desirous of obtaining the rights to mannon-acceptance of these offers, we are lieved to be in Hamburg, Germany. not prepared to state. Mrs. Geo. Bogard entertained about twe ty of her friends and neighbors on last Wednesday evening at her home on Fourth street. Games were played and delicious refreshments served and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all present. The assembled guests expressed sincere regrets when they were apprised of the fact that Mrs. Bogard and little son, George T. Jr., who is the idol of the neighborhood, would soon join her husband, who has a lucra tive position with an electric light plant at Big Stone Gap, Va. For several years past Mr. Bogard has been the local manager of the Kentucky Utilities Company and is a young man of sterling worth. The Bogards are popular with a wide circle of friends, whose hearty good wishes go with them to their new home.

It is said that Russia has mobilized 2,000 000 men on the German and Austrian frontiers, 500,000 on the Roumanian frontier and has 3,000,000 men more held in reserve-a total army of 5,500,000 men. The information, if correct, would seem to indicate that Russia has completed her mobilization more quickly than was expected and is about ready to attack both Germany and Austria a much higher rate than the people

The Japanese Ultimatum.

Japan has sent an ultimatum to Germany demanding that Germany evacuate Kiaochau and withdraw all warships from far eastern waters. Following the dispatch of the ultimatum, the Japanese minister of foreign affairs conferred with the American ambassador, giving broad assurances that American interests in the Orient will be safeguarded and the integrity of China upheld.

It is officially announced that a large French force has entered Belgium and is proceeding from Charleroi to Gemboux, ten miles northwest of Namur. French outposts claim a victory over the German outposts at Chambery, in the German province of Lorraine, while two French battalions near La Garde, in the same province, were driven back across the border. The French war office announces that the French, after successful resistance for five days in the Vosges mountains, have occupied the region of the Saale Pass, commanding the valley of the Bruche, which leads to Strassburg, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parks, of Grand | capital of the German province of Al-Mary Ann Haden and others.- Lexing- Junction, Colorado, have returned home sace, over which every Frenchman the headquarters is not announced. The invasion of Herzegovina by the combined forces of the Servians and Montenegrins is reported to be continuing, and, according to reports, the Herzegovinians are arming in support of the invaders.

The North Sea Cleared.

The British fleet has cleared the North sea so that merchant vessels are now passing freely between Scandinavian ports and England, bringing provisions to the United Kingdom. The German fleet is reported to be still bottled up in the eastern part of the North sea. The British Mediterranean fleet and the French fleet are reported to be searching for the Austrian fleet, last reported at Pola. No news is given out by the British war office regarding the expeditionary forces now on the continent. The French successes in the passes of the Vosges mountains have immeasurably strengthened their mastery of the heights and approaches commanding Alsace and Lorraine. These successes appear to have duplicated in brilliancy the manner in which the enemy was driven back, first from Blamont to Cirey, then from Cirey to Avrincourt, and finally out of Avrincourt with the occupation of this section, and according to the reports this army not only was crumpled up, but was crushed by a flank movement, which pushed it back with heavy losses on It is announced in St. Petersburg that Russian troops have captured the town of Sokal, in Galicia, leading to Lemberg. Russian advices say also that the Russians now holding Eydkuhnen, on the east Prussian border. have repulsed an attempt by the Germans to recapture the town. The Russian fleet is said still to command the Gulf of Finland, although German ships have been seen in the Baltic near the mouth of the gulf.

Special Meeting City Council.

There was a special meeting of the City Council on Thursday night, the purpose of the meeting being the discussion of the new telephone franchise for the city of Richmond. A large number of the members of the local bar and Judge W. R. Shackelford, who drafted the franchise for the city, appeared on the scene promptly at 8 o'clock. After reading the stipulations of the franchise as a whole, it was taken up and discussed section by section by members of the City Council, representatives of the Cumberland Telephone Company, and chise were bitterly assailed and several heated arguments indulged in while discussing the their merits or demerits, Hon. C. C. Wallace denouncing in bitter and sarcastic words its draft, claiming that it was a non-exclusive franchise and just what the Cumberland Company desired. He produced the scale of rates charged by telephone companies in several cities, which showed that the people of Richmond are at present paying in other places. Mr. Wallage made an impassioned plea for a lower rate than the one prevailing, and insisted that instead of a non-exclusive franchise Council should adopt an exclusive franchise. At 10:30 o'clock very little had been done except wrangle. The chief attorney for the Telephone Company being present, stated to the Council that he desired to fully discuss his side of the case and that it would consume considerable time to go into details. Upon this statement, it was unanimously agreed by all present that further discussion be postponed until next Friday night, August 21, when the franchise question will be thoroughly threshed

Make it your business to be there, Prof. Emerson Gwynn, who had previously petitioned the city for a building permit to erect a frame building in Burnam wood, said building to be used for a private school, was voted down by the council. This is a prominent residential section of the city, and some of the dwellers therein protested, on the ground that the erection of this school building in their midst would depreci ate the value of their property, and the council so voted. However, Prof. Gwynn informed the mayor and council to instruct their city attorney to prepare to fight the case, as he proposed to begin work and would test the case in the Placing the ironing-board across the backs of two chairs, she lifted the fron from the stove and tested it with moistened finger. The light breeze that stirred the curtains felt cool on her damp brow, but she did not look up to see the green haze.

Neither did she note the far-off hum, like the hum of bees when they gather at the home hive at nightfall-a hum that grew louder, and swelled in volume till it sounded like the rumble of a thousand busy looms-louder,

An eery note sang through it; louder and higher, and louder and higher like the increasing roar of advancing

The shrieks of the child seemed fee ble and impotent in the face of the roar, as she seized it up and plunged head down into the swirling dust out-

For a moment she was but a plaything of the storm that whirled her skirts above her head and blinded her. She was hurtled along until she stumbled and fell to her knees on a mound of earth, which with a heart-leap of joy she recognized as the storm-house. Then the door yielded, crashed down over their heads, and from pandemonium she stepped into peace. Long she sat with wide-stretched eyes staring into the darkness of their refuge, until things began to take on a dim, ghostly shape, and even the dirt wall opposite came into view. The mutter was dying lower and lower, and the whine was stilled, when suddenly there came a clear, sharp tap on the tin door of their refuge. She caught her breath and strained to hear. MADE WITH FRIED RHUBARB

Kentucky Delicacy That Has Many Admirers Among Those Who Are Fond of Good Eating.

The Kentucky variation of fried rhubarb pie is as follows: Cook the rhubarb to a thick, sweet marmalade, flavoring with orange, lemon, nutmeg or ginger, according to fancy, or a few large seeded and chopped raisins may be cooked with the rhubarb. The crust is made of rich biscuit or shortcake dough, rolled thin as possible and size of a tea plate, fried in an iron frying pan and turned like a pancake. As each one is fried a nice brown, it is spread with the marmalade. Four or five are put together like layer cake, and served hot, cutting them like pie. The crust must be short enough to be tender and fried a crisp, but not hard, brown, cutting

Many readers have asked for directions for making rhubarb jelly for dessert. Cut a pound of the fruit into inch lengths and put into a baking dish with a pint of sugar, a pint of water and a little ginger root. Bake until the rhubarb is tender. Soften half a boxful of gelatin with half a cupful of cold water, using the pink gelatin. Dissolve over hot water and strain into the rhubarb; then add the juice of a lemon. Pour into a mold wet with cold water and set away to get firm. Serve with garnish of whipped cream and clear lemon jelly

Look over the ice box daily. Wash whispered aloud the thought that this pipe connecting the ice chamber and drip pan is adjustable it should be removed and scalded once a week, for you will be surprised to notice the green slime that forms an inside coatwho had given them the sugar-bowl-ing. Do not simply empty the drip pan once or twice daily. Clean it regularly also. There is nothing better for the purpose than old-fashioned "salt soda" combined with plenty of boiling water. Never be guilty of putting ice in the chest wrapped in newspapers. That is well enough to keep in a box or tub and is good at times. It is more sanitary to wash ice before placing it in the ice chamber, and you avoid the risk of clogging the waste pipe with particles of straw and sawdust.

One-Prong Fork.

A clever housewife has almost invented a kitchen tool. Taking an ordinary, long-handled, three-pronged cook's fork, she filed off the two outer prongs, leaving only one, and uses this to test whether a vegetable or piece of meat is tender. The one prong makes less mark and is less apt to break the food than the three piercings. The fork is good also to remove caps from milk bottles, and especially so in taking olives and other foods from longnecked bottles and cans, such as sec tions of fruit, etc. Indeed, this housekeeper believes that she couldn't "keep kitchen" without it.

When You Sweep. For sweeping a room neatly there is nothing like newspaper aid. Take a page of newspaper or other convenient paper, wet in hot water and squeeze until it ceases to drip. Tear into pieces the size of one's hand, cast them all over the carpet, then sweep and most of the dust in the room, if you use your broom judiciously, will be gathered into the papers. After a velvet or other heavy pile carpet is thoroughly swept, a sponging with ammonia and water will preserve its brightness wonderfully.

Boiled Salmon.

One and one-half pound piece of salmon, put in double boiler with good slice of butter; season with salt and pepper, a little parsley, mace, thyme, sage, celery and onion; cover tightly and let steam one and one-half hourswithout uncovering; then add one and one-half glasses of white wine, with a little lemon juice; steam 20 minutes longer and serve. Bouillon may be used instead of wine if preferred.

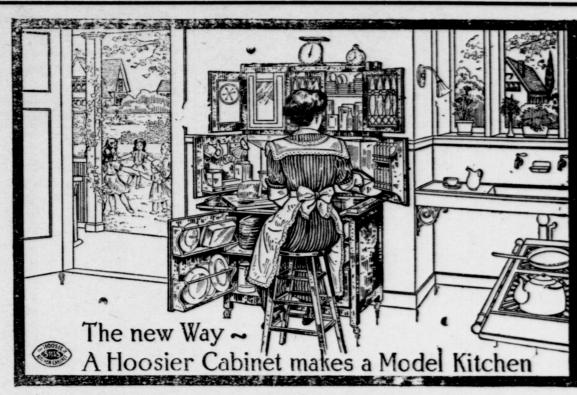

Connecticut Corn Bread. Sift together one cupful each of corn meal and flour, one teaspoonful of

SUMMER DISEASE OF CATTLE

Treatment of Infectious Sore Eyes Is Inexpensive and Not Difficult of Application.

By C. C. LIPP, Assistant Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.) Infectious sore eyes of cattle most frequently makes its appearance during the summer months, although it may also occasionally appear at other times. The germs may be introduced into a herd by the purchase of an animal suffering with the disease, but it is undoubtedly spread in other ways as it sometimes appears suddenly and without any known means of entrance to the premises. As this disease is infectious, it spreads from one animal to others, and sometimes runs through an entire herd. Its duration in one animal is from one to two weeks, usually about ten days, after which it has run its course and disappears. Although total blindness may result, the sight is not usually permanently impaired. Very often but one eye is affected, the other eye, if affected at all, shows the symptoms from several days to week later. The first symptom is a profuse flow of tears. Then the eye becomes very sensitive to light, and is kept constantly closed. Later the eyelids swell, and the discharge shows distinct traces of pus or matter. About the same time a white speck appears on the surface of the eyeball. This speck gradually enlarges and may cover the entire front of the eye, causing temporary blindness Treatment is inexpensive and easily applied. When begun in time recovery is hastened, and further spread of the disease is prevented. It is always best to confine the animals in a comfortable but well-darkened stall. Feed sparingly on cooling, laxative foods. Give a physic of a pound of epsom salts in two quarts of water to an animal weighing 1,000 pounds. Add half a grain of zinc solution and ten rams of boric acid to an ounce of dis tilled water. Use a medicine dropper to put a few drops of this mixture in the eye several times a day.

PROPER ATTENTION TO EWES

First Essential for Success In Handling Early Lambs Is Comfort-

Severe losses result from attempting to handle early lambs without having adequate accommodations to provide comfort for the flock, writes L. J. Merideth in Homestead. We have found it desirable to keep on hand an adequate supply of light partitions and mangers for constructing pens for the ewes as fast as needed. In this way the flock can have the run of the whole sheep barn or it can quickly be subdivided as the occasion may demand. It will be found very convenient to have a light manger that can be made fast to the corner of each pen, so that roughage may be fed regularly without being trampled under foot and made unpalatable. Ewes should have plenty of good, nutritious food during the winter, not only to maintain a good flesh condition, but to nourish the unborn lambs. Roughage alone is not enough. A light ration of grain should be fed regularly. A proper mixture of oats, barley, corn and peas will give good results. For roughage, clover or alfalfa hay and ensilage will furnish about the

At the meeting of the Clark county fiscal court last Thursday at Winchester, a committee was appointed to investigate Clark's claim to about 9 square miles of land now included in Fayette's borders. The matter was brought to the attention of the court by Col. T. O. Stuart. The committee is composed of County Attorney S. T. Davis, Col. T. G. Stuart and Magistrates J. S. Lindsay and E. B. Dooley. It is claimed that when the survey was made, making Clark out of a part of Fayette county, the line was not properly run.

The day was highly enjoyed by all so fortunate as to be one of the guests. His four daughters presented Mr. Davis with a handsome family Bible as a birthday gift.

Richmond, Ky., August 19, 1914

ATTENTION GENTLEMEN—

For the past 15 days I have waged a most successful campaign against the stock of Men's Wearing Apparel of R. C. H. Covington Co.

I have now moved my army into winter quarters.

During my attack I cleaned up nearly every department of Summer Goods. Odds and Ends and goods carried over from last season so when you read of their FALL OPENING, stand at attention ready to take up double quick time to see the best line of Men's Wear ever shown in Central Kentucky, none excepted. You will not be disappointed in either Price, Quality or Looks.

If its new and true they have it, if they haven't and you want it, they will get it.

Before Breaking Camp I noticed case after case of Fall Shoes, Fall Suits, etc., etc., being received. So remember "The Early Bird Gets The Worm."

Trusting the many friends I met this season will appreciate the immense savings I allowed them and that they will prove loyal and lasting friends to the firm of R. C. H. Covington Co., I beg to remain

Yours very truly,
